Spotting suspicious messages

Your handout

- Pressure is a clue. Stop. Verify with a number or site you already know. Ask someone you trust.
- Red flags: urgency, payment demand, secrecy, gift cards, unexpected link.
- If you clicked or paid: bank (number on your card), password, reportfraud.ftc.gov, tell one person.

Your notes

Privacy rule: use made-up examples only. Nothing here is sent, bought or changed for you.

Next step: ask for the free first-prompt guide (date and venue of classes are not set yet).
